SULDEN WEALTH
Is What Prospectors are Looking for in the Oil Section WELLING, W Va, April 18 Since the rise in oil the Sisterville field has become alive with prospectors. Every man who can raise a few hundred dollars is out trying to locate well. Prospectors offer a cash bonus on land, which is hard to get, as the farmers are holding off for more money. It is estimated that 400 small wells have been located for spring operating and the number is increasing. Thus far no very big deals have been made.
The runs during the past twenty-fourhours were about 7,850, an increase of 100 barrels over the preceding days.
The operators complain of the scarcity of labor and work is hampered very much on this account.
Thousinds of dollars are being sent to Oil City and Pittsburg for investment.
James Burge, a "plunger," invested 3100
a week ago and is now worth over $40,- tip, which under the revised rules counts sence of two weeks Mrs. A. B. Taylor as a strike, was a matter for President. Young to decide before the championship season opens. Rival captains had already begun to wrangle over this rule, which heeded official interpretation at once, though it seems that if a foul tip is to count as a strike then its meaning. is plain phough, as it surely cannot be a foul ball. Chief of Unpires Hurry Wright has decided that the runns must hold his base in case of a foul tip caught by the ceatcher within the tenfoot line. That is a rational way out of the difficulty, but there will be some grumbling by tunners who get a good start just us the tip is made. That Mr. Wright's decrep is not generally acceptable is shown by the fact that President Hart, of Chicago, wired an objection to Mr. Wrigh & Interpretation and insists that the pluy shall operate in every way as a mere strike. A prompt ruling one way of the other, binding on everybody, was therefore in order from Presi-

It is the settlind law of this State that an absolute the debtor has in lands, is a good attachment of the land their and a good attachment of the land telf; and a seizure and sale on execution parsuant to the attachment, of such right, title and interest, will pass to the creditor a good title to the land as against a prior unrecorded deed of the debtor.

deal with Fait River whereby it can secure Willis, who is very popular in the former city.

Manager Seire, of the Bostons, speaks in the highest terms of all of his new men. Collins, Nyce, Warner, Sullivan and Dolan have come fally up to the expectations, and when the time comes for him to "weef" out he will be puzzled to decide whom to let go. During the Southern trip the Bostons played in all 21 games, winning all but two, both of which were lost to the Washingtons. Four of the games arranged for the trip could not be played because of rain.

In two of the games of the trip the Bostons played without a flelding error, in eight games with only one error, and in four with battwo errors. In heating, the consent of plaintiff.

Whitehouse J. Rescript.

Whitehouse J.

The plaintiff claims damages for an alleged unhaviol arrest on an execution for costs, issued by a disclosure commissioner before the expiration of twenty-four hours from the rendition of the judgment for costs; also damages for a second arrest after the debtor had been released.

second arrest after the debtor had been released.

It was the rule of procedure at common law that execution might issue as soon as final judgment was signed. The statutes applicable to the Supreme Judicial Court and trial justices, requiring the issue of execution; to be deferred twenty-feur hours after the readition of judgment are not applicable to a disclosure commissioner. The same reasons do not exist. Sec. 20 of the act of 1887 gives the debtor no appeal from the decision of the Commissioner refusing a discharge, but authorizes that magistrate to issue a capias at once; and no valid reason is apparent why the separate execution for costs should not issue at the same time. The statute of 1887, Sec. 23, is not in conflict with this view. The execution appears from the original resort to have been regularly and properly issued. There was no second arrest.

A HEARTY WELCOME.

leasant Event at Odd Fellows Hall. The return of Bangor Ledge of Odd Fellows to Odd Fellows' Hall, after a four years' absence in other quarters was signalized hist evening at the first meeting under the new arrangement he a warm welcome extended by Oriental and Penobscot Lodges to Bangor Lodge and the occusion was a most enjoyable one to all concerned. There were about 130 present. An initiation was followed by a bounteous collation and post prandial exercises at which Mr. Henry B. Thoms was toastnaster. Interesting remarks were made by Past Grands Thomas White, A. F. Smith, F. H. Small, L. E. Kellen, Frank J. Temple, J. C. Bowen, L. W. Gi'man, G. S. Hall, C. J. Wardley, A. J. Merrill, Charles H. Adams, G. B. Goodale and Mesurs, J. A. Boardman, G. F. Cameron and W. Y. Patch.

The speeches were followed by a social line, after which adjournment was in order.

The return of Banger Lodge to the old quarters is a matter of much satisfaction to all the members of the three lodges.

Amusement Notes.

Manager F. A. Owen of the Opera House telegraphed Mr. Chas. H. Pratt, manager of the English Opera Company, on Monday, telling him how the subscription sale was progressing and be received an answer resterday from Mr. Pratt saying the subscription should be four times as much and telling him to give up the engagement. This decision will cause much disappointment among those who desired to attend the proposed season of grand opera, but as a sufficiently large number did not subscribe, the manager of the company did not feel like coming to Bangor with a probable financial loss. E. E. Rice and R. A. Barnet are in consultation, in New York City with regard to Barnet's Excelsior, Jr., which Rice will stage. Thomas Q. Seabrooke says that the ong "Swim Out O'Grady," which has made such a hit through his singing of it, is encored on an average of eight times a performance. Paul Potter, the diamatist, now occupies the identical rooms in the Colon-nade Rotel, New York, formerly occupied by Kyrle Bellewi. On one of the window pages there is "K R" Inscribed by the diamond of theactor, and over the mantel is a photograph of Bellew as bunlet, a character played by him over ten years ago. Richard Mansfield, who proposes to call his new theatre The Garrick, has always had a special fundness for the only neat eighteenth century actor. This fondness, it is said, has led him to prepure the materials for a new biography of Garrick, which he hopes to publish in the full.

During the last week of Trilby at the Park, there was not an empty seat in the muse. Boston has gone Trilby mad, and the people who have read the novel are all crazy to see the play. A new fourth act has been substituted and the blece has gained in effectiveness thereby

Tuesday's Portland Press has the following:
Portland High school boys are disgusted with Bangor's chain to the earth, and especially with the result of the

the place of the unual meet was decided on and Bangor by clever wire pulling secured the field day, although it meant a long trip and heavy expense to the members from the western part of the state.
Augusta, Lewiston and Waterville were suggested, but Bangor had the quajority on the executive board and it was voted to hold the field day at Bangor.

The commencement music will be furnished by Howe's Orchestra, of Buston, fourteen pieces. The commencement exercises will be held during the week beginning June 16. Isn't that just like Portland? This school ought to form a league by itself. Bangor is sorry that Thornton Academy has decided not to send a team, as friendly relations have always existed between the school and academy. If Portland and Thornton do form a dual league the meet in Bangor of the Maine Inter-Scholastic Athletic Association will not be interfered with in the least as seven schools and academies will surely be represented here, and arrangements for a successful event will

I compiled, describing how I had seen Dymphna meet Clarence and what I had observed to pass between them. The astonialment of my hearers may be imagined. "The point is very simple," said our host coolly when I had, in the face of many exchanations and some incredulity, completed the tale. "It is 1, sit this! The woman certainly was not Dymphna. In the first place, size would not be cut at night. In the second place, what could she know of your Chronice, an Englishman and a strangar! In the third place, it will warrant she has boon in her toom all the evening. Then if Master Francis was mistaken in the woman, may he not have been mistaken in the man? That is the point."

"No," I said boldly. "I only saw her hack. I saw his fama."

"Certainly that Is semething," Master Education admitted.

In answer to that I could do no more than give further assumines of my certainty on the point. "It was the man I saw in the boat at Greenwich," I dealared positively. "Why should I funging it?".

"All the same, I trust you have," she rejoined, "for if its was indeed that arch soundrid we are undone."

"Imagination, plays us; queer tricks."
